

Stop the Baby Genocide!

By Abishek Clifford CEO Rescue

India is turning in the wrong direction. Throwing away wise restraints which have guarded true love and beautiful family culture for centuries, we are injecting ourselves and our nation with a drug far more addictive than heroine which is perverting our youths on mass. This drug is pornography. So few are sounding the alarm and exposing the terrible consequences of this habit that we are compelled to go from college to college blowing a loud clear trumpet, warning about the true nature of this latest evil.

Throughout all of history porno has only been viewed by a low percentage of men who generally obtained such debase photos in prostitution centres and other dubious abodes. Since it has always been illegal in India, such magazines were never distributed openly and therefore it was not widely available and so the habit has always been very limited to the perverse few. That is, until now. The dawning of the internet era despite all its' great advantages (the availability of global information, news, research, games, entertainment etc.), has taken away the restriction of access to porno. It is so easy now through internet cafés, modern mobiles and computers in the home to connect to the world wide web and call up any one of thousands of porno sites offering free sexual stimulation through their images. At least 70% of PUC boys surveyed ^[1] across Karnataka admit to be already addicted to this grave habit. Many boys start this habit in high school. Even girls are also beginning to peer into this abyss.

The Poison of Pornography

The question is: what happens to someone who regularly watches pornographic videos and photos? What are the consequences in a nation given to this habit? The evidence is plentiful. Western young people have had their status reduced to that of laboratory rats in this untried social experiment already. However, we can learn from the results and don't need to repeat the mistakes here. Western countries long back threw off the restraints of conscience and purity to pursue lifestyles of free sex and indulgence. Their youths were given freedom to sleep around and live unmarried with girlfriends and have full access to blue movies and with no one to prick their consciences. What were the consequences? Let's look at them one at a time. Then we can wake up and not reduce our youths to laboratory rats.

Already here in India immorality is one of the main reasons for abortions: the termination of the baby in the womb. Altogether eleven million babies are killed in this way every year in India! ^[7] That's equivalent to everyone in one of the largest cities in India every year being totally wiped out. If Pakistan kills two soldiers near the Kashmir border everyone is outraged. What if Pakistan were to nuke one whole large city in India every year? This is happening! Eleven million babies killed not by Pakistan but by doctors and their own parents. One of the roots of the problem is over sexual saturation due to pornography. If you are watching blue movies regularly you are contributing to the baby genocide which we will explain in the second half of this book.

How would you feel if someone got your naked photo and put it up on the college notice board? Or say you are engaged to a girl and one of your class mates has distributed photos of her naked around to all the boys in your class? How would you feel? Defiled, angry, enraged... Every porno photo men look at is someone else's wife, daughter, sister.

One Lifetime Lover

Your eyes are made for one lifetime lover alone. If you look at hundreds of girls' naked photos (I'm writing this from a guy's perspective but it all equally applies to girls...), do you really think you will be satisfied with your future wife? No one posts porno of ugly plain girls only the most attractive. So after you marry what if your future wife is less beautiful? Even if this is not the case having such a variety of stimuli is actually robbing your future wife of your passion. It is increasing your threshold for stimulation to a level higher than a single woman can satisfy. Girls, do you want your future husbands coming to be intimate with you after having saturated themselves with multiple girls through the internet? It's not only a photo, it's an experience which is designed to be only with one lifetime lover. That's the original design, God did not make a mistake. The father of this nation prophetically warned this generation of youths not to indulge in blue movies. He warned us not to speak or hear evil and also not to see evil. Our bodies are designed by a highly intelligent being to have certain levels of hormones and stimulation from our married partner. When watching multiple blue movies that level is crossed and our threshold for satisfaction is damaged.

Romantic love is such a special gift from God who created it. Think of the moment when class mates (when conversation between them finishes and they are both staring at each other) suddenly realize that they both like each other! It is the source of so much pleasure and comfort. The level of love between an engaged couple is a beautiful experience not to be spoilt. Your future marriage is meant to give ultimate feelings and friendship. Porno robs people of this. Blue movies are twisting people away from the ultimate enjoyment with a lifetime lover: their wife / husband. You can't have the fulfilment in both camps. If you engage in porno now you'll damage your relationship with your future lover. When you stand next to your fiancé about to be married you want to be giving yourself fully to her / him, not partially if you have already indulged through photos. Why spoil 50 years of love for the sake of a few years of perversion? Why not delete all the porno from your mobile right now?

Whenever the issue of rape comes into the news, people blame the government for not giving tougher punishments and the police for not catching the rapists. Few, however, ask what the cause of the increase in this violent crime could be. Is it not obvious that if men saturate themselves with more and more explicit sexual scenes in blue movies that their lust for gratification will increase to the point where some will cross the line of law and conscience and rape some innocent girl? When watching multiple images and videos they are reprogramming their expectations and desires, bottling up an increasing measure of lust, potentially exploding out in the acts of sexual perversion and violence which we are witnessing in India.

Your eyes are like a single light bulb in a room at night. If there is light in the light bulb then the whole room will light up. If there is darkness in the light bulb (when it's off) then there will be darkness in the whole room. In the same way if you look at the darkness on your mobile or computer screen your whole spirit will become full of darkness, increasing all of the following: your level of anger, feeling of rebellion towards parents, lack of ability to concentrate on studies, lack of discipline in general, apathy, and increase in lustful thoughts whatever activity you're engaged in. Some say that there is a demon behind every porno film or image ready to demonize every person that invites them in through watching.

One youth decided to stop watching porn. He prayed to God every day to lead him away from temptation and deliver him from this evil. However after three weeks in his computer class all the boys were watching porn. He gave in and typed the porno web site on his computer. As he pressed enter the whole network crashed including all computers in his lab and his own. God answered his prayer to keep him away from temptation! That happened ten years ago and I am still in touch with him and know that after that time he never went to porno again, God helped him to totally overcome. Some prayers God cannot answer but when you ask for deliverance from a bad habit desperately and repeatedly, He definitely will answer.

Porno Crime

Girls, how do you feel that your future husband is probably right now in the habit of looking at hundreds of girls naked every month on his mobile? Don't you want to stop this? You can as a group rip down posters advertising porno movies pasted in the streets you see, like the students of one college did after our program. One girl started this and then as the news reached other students the guys went out and ripped down the rest. If anyone tries to stop you explain according to Indian law IPC section 292 it is 2 years in prison for displaying such posters.

You can send your younger brother into a download centre with his chip to ask for 2GB of blue movies as a test while you with your friends wait outside. If the shop agrees then you can all go inside and confront the shop owner. Tell him he is ruining your future husbands. Tell him he is perverting the soul of India and spoiling youths. Tell him according to 2008 IT Act he is breaking the law distributing pornography and the legal punishment is five years in prison! Warn him that you will be sending other brothers in to test him and will inform the police if caught again! We have done this in almost 100 download centres, internet cafés, and DVD shops finding about 70% were willing to give blue movies. We went in pairs and one guy would pretend to be texting on his mobile when really he was filming and would catch the shop keeper illegally selling the porno. Many shops immediately deleted all porno from their computers. The police have asked us for these videos and we will be giving them but we decided to give each shop a warning first and then if recorded the second time to hand it over to the police to take action. We have chatted to many police sub-inspectors about this issue and it would be good for you to do so as well in your area once you have secretly surveyed the download centres in your area to see how many are willing to give out blue movies. Each police inspector gave a good response to our work. Recently one shop was caught and forced to pay Rs 25,000 fine. Many of the police sent notices warning all these sorts of shops in their jurisdiction and decided to send young new unknown officers in civilian dress to ask (as a test) for porno. The Inspectors said that if they agreed they would immediately confiscate the computer as evidence, file a case within 24 hours and summon the shop owner to court within 2 weeks to pay a massive fine. If they did not pay they would be imprisoned. The police do a great job but have so many pressures pulling them in many directions. They need a little encouragement to take this action. Once someone is fined you should call the press to publicize the police action which will be a warning to others to stop the distribution in your area. This should be repeated every 6 months. This is our plan for Mysore and a few other parts of Karnataka. Our team cannot do everywhere, will you help? Evil triumphs when good people do nothing.

The 2000 IT Act was revised in 2008 to try to combat all the filth and crime on the internet. Publishing or transmitting pornographic images will now be punished with 3 years in prison and a 5 lakh fine. This means if you send a nude photo to your friend's phone by Bluetooth and get caught you can be sent to prison for 3 years! Similarly publishing or transmitting blue movies leads to 5 years in prison and a 10 lakh rupee fine. (This is section 67 and 67A of the 2008 IT Act). So if a download centre loads someone's mobile with 2GB of blue movies or a DVD shop sells or hires out a porno movie it means 5 years imprisonment! Because the law is on our side here we can use it to the maximum by informing police of individuals and shops who are violating and making money out of perverting this nation.

Another suggestion of what you can do to stop all this: whenever you use an internet café ask the owner to turn the screens around. Explain to him how youths are being led astray and ruining the chances of happy marriage through porno and explain that if the screens were public at least many would be too ashamed to visit such websites openly. The light shines in the darkness and the darkness cannot overcome it. Just by removing secrecy, bringing these things into the light and speaking out about it, the resulting growth in awareness can go along way to remove the darkness. If you have indulged in porno and are now deciding to do so no longer please send a list of the websites that tempted you to the cyber police website: www.cybercrimeps@ksp.gov.in. If they get multiple recommendations from youths, they will block those websites. Be brief but tell them why you are sending the website URL's. Don't send the images just the URL's. Since we are giving this advice to hundreds of students every month this is an effective strategy and you can all help to cut this evil tree down at it's root: porno on the internet. In the subject line of the email you could write: "Please block these porno websites that are perverting young people in my college".

If you find yourselves one Saturday afternoon in a friend's house (with their parent's out) watching a video and suddenly the actors start undressing and nude scenes are coming, get up and tell your friends that you can't watch this filth. If they laugh at you, explain that your eyes are for your future wife alone. You are not losing out on anything, you are guarding that which will be so precious to you for life: your lifetime lover. When all your friends are teasing you and urging you to also join them in looking at porno you go against the flow and say, "I have something far better!" They want all their friends to be engaged in this activity so they can feel less guilty. If someone is holding out and saying no then it means that they could also abstain and so they feel convicted they are wrong. If you stand, many will eventually stand against these destructive habits. It would also be good if you re-read this booklet and take notes so that you can persuasively argue against these social evils with superior wisdom and reason.

Terrible Exchange

So many people are beginning to sleep with their boyfriend / girlfriend before marriage. We need to understand the wonderful purposes of the physical act of love, so that we do not waste it! People are exchanging a few months with one or more temporary lovers for 50 years of intimacy with their lifetime sleeping partners: their husband / wife. Immorality before marriage spoils intimacy and bonding after marriage. Here's the proof: in the West where about 90% of the youths have sex before marriage, 50% of their marriages end up in divorce! The place where there should be the greatest love has become the place of the greatest pain, violence and betrayal. Why is this happening?

The first purpose of the sexual union is to bond the man to the woman. God knows it is difficult for couples to love and live together for 50 years so he gives this gift to inspire the deepest level of love between the couple. The nature of the design is all-out lifetime love. To use this for a temporary lover is a waste of such a special gift.

Through intercourse two people become one body. This means that a loving married couple always want to be together, share interests, have similar opinions about education for their children and hold each other in ultimate high esteem. Romance does this a little, look at an engaged couple: how many hours do they chat on the phone every day? Intercourse takes over where romance started. However it does not make three people one, only two. So if someone has a physical relationship without marriage and then marries someone else, they will not be able to bond with that person properly because they are already joined (for life) to their first lover. The same is true if someone marries, divorces and tries to remarry. They should work on the problems in their marriage and not give up and opt out. (There are some exceptions: if one of the married partners first commit adultery then they have already broken the marriage and so divorce is acceptable in this case).

This is why they will argue more and have less peace in their marriage. I am not saying that this is the only source of arguing. Selfishness, pride, rage, laziness etc. also rob families of peace. However when people break their bond before or after their marriage, they are throwing away the divine seal, the emotional bonding process with their spouse which only works through personal unique intimacy: one lifetime lover. God designed sex and marriage. We cannot improve upon His design. Since He made it to work to knit you together with one person in such passion that the thoughts of breaking up would be unimaginable, then how can people increase their sexual fulfilment by having a number of lovers? In the West all restraint seems to be gone. People go from one sleeping partner to another. Each break up is so painful. In between lovers there are often long periods of loneliness and heartache and no intercourse. When the next lover is found, the level of stimulation is only a fraction of the design as they are misusing their bodies. Compare this to the faithful couple who marry as virgins, totally in love with each other and stimulated on a maximum level continuously. Several times a week for 50 years they enjoy the maximum level of stimulation with each other while the guy who thought by leaving his wife and going with another temporary girlfriend is sleeping alone and with just his heartache and his porno photos! Which way is best? A variety of girls does not lead to the highest stimulation but intimacy with one girl does: your lifetime lover. The problem is people don't want to accept this as to have intimacy with one girl (their wife), requires compassion before the passion. It takes great effort to keep serving your wife, forgiving, showing real love not just lust, to preserve the intimacy. However this is what life is about: choosing to grow in patience, trust, gentleness and peace. It is the victory in the moral struggle of the marriage relationship that leads to a peaceful relationship which is the foundation for maximum romance and sexual fulfilment. A variety of lovers is a very cheap substitute for this, springing from a rejection of life's demand to keep humbling ourselves and lack of resolve to brace the storms that ultimately try to destroy the marriage relationship. The purpose of these storms is that once weathered the individuals have a stronger love and have learnt more about their need for God's help and healing in their own dark areas of their characters.

Contract for Love

You may ask: "Ok I'll have a lifetime lover, my present boyfriend. Yes I'll stay and sleep with only him for life but I'll also sleep with him before my marriage to him. Then my bonding will only be with him so that's ok no?" If you really intend to only have him as your lifetime sleeping partner then first make sure he agrees to this. Get him to make a covenant with you in public that this is his commitment. This is what a wedding is. The marriage covenant simply ensures neither partner is simply playing around. If you are ready to join yourself to someone through intercourse then make a covenant to seal the lifetime nature of this relationship to make sure he does not enjoy your body for a few years and then go off with someone else, spoiling your life. If he is not willing to do this then you should not be willing to sleep with him. Intercourse is marriage! The wedding is the seal of the commitment publicly so it cannot be easily reversed. “But my parents will not agree!” Maybe they have some good reasons? Like first finishing your studies. In this case get engaged in front of both parents and meet in your parents’ houses. Passion will grow over the months or years of engagement and your marriage will start with a history of a long season of intense longing for each other. The physical act in the resulting marriage will be the climax to the romance which is what it is designed to be. Used out of the context of romance, for example in one night stands, prostitution or rape so debases this wonderful gift. In night clubs, drunken discos and multitudes of films it is advertised as a superior lifestyle to jump in bed with any one who looks attractive. However such sexual behaviour is devoid of tempered long-term romance and an empty, phantom of what true intercourse was designed to be.

Do you really want to lose your parents? Your friends may leave you but your family will always be your family. You only have one mum and dad. Today many parents have accepted that their children also have a strong say in who they marry. Give them time, much time and they will probably agree, if they have strong reasons to listen to what they are saying. Better still before you get hooked on one person, let your parents know at an early stage.

But you say “I’m just dating this guy, I’m not serious. I don’t want to get to a serious proposal, involving our parents.” Don’t play with love, it’s too painful when one is seriously in love and the other turns out to be just playing for fun and then breaks up. The person you ‘loved’ may be scarred for life, not wanting to marry anyone else or may even take their life as has often happened. Playing with love can kill... One student in Mysore was seriously in love with and dating a classmate. When the girl’s father found out he called her back to their home in Hyderabad only planning to send her back to Mysore for her final degree exams. Before the exam, the father got this daughter married in Hyderabad to another boy. When the guy in love with her found out he could not handle it. He was broken and mad at her for marrying another. He had played with love without a covenant and was now facing the consequences. When she finally came for her exam in Mysore, this boy took a knife in the exam room and tried to cut her throat in the exam room! Don't get too serious with someone until you inform your mum and dad. Don't allow anyone to sleep with you without first making a public legal covenant of lifetime commitment: marriage.

One of my best friends at high school ended up in jail for murder. He was not a bad guy, he was not in trouble at school or in fights or anything like that at all. How did it happen? He was engaged to marry a girl who spent time in his house. Once he came home early and slipped into the house to surprise his mum and fiancé. However when he went into his bedroom his fiancé was in bed with another guy! As he looked, at first unobserved, at the treasure of his life in passionate activity with another person, filled with disgust, burning with jealousy, feeling defiled and betrayed he grabbed his hunting gun, loaded it with a bullet and without thinking about the consequences, there and then shot the adulterous man! All three lives ruined. Romance and intercourse are designed by God to join people together for life. If someone else comes in-between it is unbearable, as these two examples show. That girl, in engaging in immorality, led to the death of her lover and to the imprisonment of her fiancé. Now that's not real love is it?

The next objection I hear is: "But I can't control myself, the feelings are too strong." Yes it is hard sometimes to guard your virginity. That is why when you do and you present yourself to your fiancé as a virgin on your wedding day it is such a precious gift you are giving to your lifetime lover: your purity. It is so hard to preserve so that it can be such a great wedding present. Also don't put yourself in situations that make it so tempting. Don't meet in secret, in the dark, alone in his house when his parents are out. Don't go into his bedroom. Don't get too close even after engagement otherwise it will be too hard to control. Again the restraint before is part of the process to maximize desire ready for the climax of marriage. Your first night should be your first night!

Bodily Glue

Let me give you an ultra clear example. If I use cellotape to put a poster on the wall it will stay stuck for a long time. However if I pull that poster off the wall and try to stick it some where else with the same tape, it probably will not stay stuck very long but will fall down. Why? Because the tape has already been used. After removing it, the glue loses much of its power. It also has dirt, dust and paint on it so it is not so sticky. In the same way, sex is glue for your body to stick you to one person: your lifetime lover, your married partner. As long as you stay with that same person the glue will continue to work fine. In our example, the glue in the tape continues to work keeping the poster on the wall as long as it is not removed from its original place. In the same way, in the married relationship the union keeps the love binding and the relationship satisfying. If you sleep with a temporary lover, without the bond of marriage covenant and then marry someone else, your gift will not work properly with the second lover. There will be dust / paint on your sexual emotional self. Your bodily glue will not work properly. You will not be able to bond properly again. This is why you should not sleep with someone until you are married. It is also why every effort should be made to avoid divorce, whatever the problems (except adultery). You should put everything into making your future marriage work, because if it does not, it would be many times harder with the next person!

If you are reading this and thinking: “I wish I had read this before! What can I do? It’s too late! I have already gone too far with my lover...” First ask your creator God for forgiveness. Then ask the guy for a covenant to seal the relationship for life: get married (you already are half married.) If they will not agree and they leave you then ask God to restore your virginity, to take the dust off your glue. With God all things are possible but you need a miracle from God and few really pursue him until they receive it. You need to find the truth about His love for you and mercy: He’ll forgive any sin if the person is really sorry. Spend time alone in your bedroom or on the roof of your house and cry out to your heavenly Father God who longs for you to spend intimate time chatting with Him and he will heal all the pain of a broken relationship and spoil gift as well.

Understanding the purpose of intercourse as bonding helps us to realize why pornography is robbing our future partner of our affections if we indulge in it. If someone looks at a nude photo, through their lust they are already committing adultery with the person in the photo in their hearts and hence getting a little dust on their bodily glue. That’s why porno and blue movies spoil peoples’ chances of a future successful marriage.

Always Crying

The lady living opposite my house in the UK was happily married with beautiful children and a handsome husband until one day when he suddenly announced that he was leaving. There had been no bad arguing or financial disagreements. Her husband had ‘fallen in love with someone else’, another woman. He left leaving her alone to bring up their children, work and pay all the bills. Over the next two years this lady cried so much that whenever she went out she had to wear sunglasses. She did this to hide the redness in her eyes due to all her crying. She was devastated as her life was torn apart. Her 'lifetime' lover did not stay for life. Her source of income was ended. What her husband did was evil: divorce for the sake of a new lover. Those who play with relationships or saturate themselves with obscene porno movies or photos are setting themselves up to be unsatisfied with their future marriage partner leading them to do such an evil act as what happened to my neighbour. Those who are unfaithful through immorality before their marriage will likely be unfaithful to their spouse, through committing adultery, after marriage. Watching many girls before marriage leads to the desire for other girls after marriage. Don't spoil your life! Don't grieve your Creator God. Don't waste such a precious gift. Don't ruin your romance!

Heroes That Are Not Heroes At All

As an English medium student you are or will be saturated from all sides with the opposite opinion to what you are reading here; in films, TV serials, adverts, websites and on Facebook. When the films show the swimming pool party and all the youths getting together and wearing little and enjoying multiple dates just for fun, they make it seem such a great way of living. They deliberately don't include testimonies similar to what I have given here. They only give half the picture: the romance and often an implication of sexual activity. The guy takes the girl into the bedroom and the lights go dim. The next scene he is waking up in the same bed as her. In the mainline movies they don't actually show the act as this is illegal but they imply it, and the 'lovers' (in the film) are not married. The impression projected is that immorality is ok. The 'lesson' people are constantly exposed to in English medium media is that there is nothing wrong with sex before marriage. They portray the western flirting and no restraint lifestyle as so wonderful. However, what they are projecting is a big fat lie! They don't tell you about all the negative consequences of these lifestyles. They don't speak of the horror of the abortion of the unwanted accidental children conceived, the guilt of the mothers who seemed forced to kill their own child through abortion, the suicide of the betrayed partner, the millions of men living on their own as their wives ran off with another man, or of the millions in the pain of having lost the lover they felt was for life. It is a huge deception and that is why Rescue speaks to tens of thousands of students each year to expose these diabolical lies and protect the futures of the next generation.

Why don't we just stop these sort of films from being shown? We are trying. Please sign our petition in this regard (or better still start your own petition). However the film industry is a multi-billion dollar industry. When nudity and bedroom scenes are put into films some people enjoy them more, so more people watch them and so that film director makes more money. This is why we are up against a big giant. However God is more powerful than Bollywood. He still uses small people to bring down big giants.

Unfortunately it is not just English movies, although they are definitely the worst. Today many language movies are allowing such perverse lust inspiring scenes, perverting the soul of the nation. The heroes of such movies are not heroes at all. If you see a 'hero' who always participates in such movies (or worse in blue movies) please anti-advertise them through your Facebook contacts and email your friends, it only takes a moment. You could also put the link to this document which is available online at: www.rescue108.com/book . Start a campaign online against any movie that is destroying love in India by spewing out lies about the nature of love through these twisted versions of romance. Why should people make money out of spoiling the marriages in this great nation? Let it be that any movie which advertises immorality (or films produced by a director or involving an actor who are known for supporting such low standards), be so boycotted that Bollywood is forced to change its standards seeing that they lose money if they include these bad scenes.

Recently there was a 'Fast-Tract' watch advert where the boy would wake up every morning with a different girl. He was portrayed as such a 'cool guy' having so many sleeping partners. Fortunately the census board was forced to ban the advert after so many complaints. Complaints are powerful. If you see something not acceptable on TV google the program name and find the phone number, phone and complain! Do it gently with a spirit of wanting to protect Indian society. It is not just because of meaningless tradition but because of so many good reasons for this aspect of India culture, as we have discussed. Because these films appeal to such a strong desire within us film makers exploit this desire and, as previously mentioned, are robbing our future marriages. These desires are meant to be inside lifetime love (marriage) alone. I am not speaking against boy-girl attraction or dating scenes. Remember the Kannada movie 'Janumada Jodi'. It was a great family movie. No bad scenes. Fully about love but without any suggestion of immorality. In the final scene Shivaraj Kumar walks off holding the girl's hand; that's all. Why can't the films keep to this standard? Actually there was one scene of adultery in this film. However the film portrayed the adulterers correctly in a bad way, shunning the activity, and hence the film protects society instead of polluting it. The problem today is that the reverse is happening. It is the hero that does the bedroom scene instead of the villain. It makes a huge difference and I encourage you to guard your heart when watching movies. Don't believe the lie. Don't allow a seed of "wow that's nice" to enter and defile your conscience or your jokes! Never joke about immorality, it's not a joke when millions of lives are being ruined.

Count Down Karnataka

Now is the time to take action about this. Kannada films which up until now have not allowed such immorality promoting movies to be cleared, are slowly buckling to pressure, seeing the success of their Hindi counterparts. We need to put pressure on the film census board to not clear any such movies. Also they should subject English and Hindi movies to the same standards as they do for Kannada before being cleared for viewing in cinema or TV in Karnataka. Unfortunately it seems the head of the Karnataka census board himself is a film director! He obviously has vested interests. This should not be allowed. God help us. Yes, definitely He will. He is far more powerful than all the film directors put together. Ultimately good will always triumph over evil, whose side do you want to be on? Recently after so many gang rapes the Samajwadi Party leader Abu Asim Azmi argued correctly that any film with nudity should be banned by censes board and that ladies should be on this census board. Good advice! When Miss World came to Bangalore in 1996 many voices such as the RSS were against having ladies in their underwear parading before the cameras. However the secularists prevailed and it was allowed. More voices need to rise for purity to prevail and save this nation from going down the drains of perversion like so many other nations.

Some may say: "Hey these are only stories in films. They're not real, therefore it does not matter what values they portray." Not true. All great speakers, politicians, religious leaders, freedom fighters in their speeches often use figurative examples to make their points, stories or parables which clearly illustrate the points they are trying to make. In this way they persuade their audiences and have great influence as history has proved. In the same way movies do have spiritual power to influence peoples' decisions, values, and consciences: be careful what you see!

Xbox

For example take the level of violence we see in Xbox and Play-Station boys' shooting games. In one scene the children have to be a terrorist in an airport and kill as many of the civilians as possible! Now in USA almost every house has such TV games and what is the fruit? We see young Americans going into primary schools with guns killing children, teachers and finally themselves shocking the nations but merely reaping what was sown. The average American has seen 10,000 murders in games and films by the time he finishes high school. America is the most violent nation on earth today: what you see does effect how you behave!

'007'

Also films stir the human heart at the deepest level. You watch one hour of thrilling action in which you are drawn to love the goodness of the hero; then he suddenly sleeps with the heroine! What are the children meant to conclude? One generation ago in UK the standards of marriage were that of Christian fidelity which means no sex before marriage like traditional India. However secularization and hitting the youth on every side with such media changed all this. For example, one favourite hero there was 'James Bond'. In his movies, he was on the verge of death for two hours but always survived and saved the world. However he would always get the most beautiful girlfriend and sleep with her in the film. One generation later after the Bond movies 90% of the youths in UK don't wait for their marriage but loose their purity. The west is proof of the negative effects of allowing these scenes in films, we don't want it here. No more human laboratory rats!

Personal Commitment to Change

We are thinking about two very serious bad things that provokes our Creator God: killing children through abortion and committing adultery through pornography. However we should also remember that there are many other issues that he also will not tolerate: lying to avoid trouble, copying in exams, bad language, back answering and disobeying parents, lazy lifestyles watching so much TV, doing little to help at home and only studying seriously last week before exams. It is not good enough to decide to stop watching porno, you need to make a personal commitment to avoid all bad habits and behaviour. Unless this is a strong decision inside you, you will fall into temptation. What is the point of your life? Why are you here? Why did God create you? This life is a moral test. God allows so much temptation and evil all around to sort people into two groups. Those who truly love God and hate sin and those who reject the truth, follow evil and don't care about right and wrong. It does matter how we live our life, it determines where we will go forever after we die. This is the most serious and important issue in life. Where will you go after you die? Have you ever thought about that? Everyone ends up in paradise or prison forever. Heaven or hell. Choosing to turn away from pornography is essential to ensure eternal life. Would God let pervers adulterers or child murderers into heaven? If he did, heaven would not be heaven! You have serious exams at the end of every year or semester.

They determine whether you will get a challenging, well paid career or not, for the rest of your life! In the same way your whole life is a moral test given by God that determines your eternal destiny. Surely you want to pass this test? Make a quality decision that you will never deliberately do anything that you know is wrong. Be quick to ask forgiveness from those you argue with even if they did something worse to you. Never take a bribe, it perverts justice, it is corrupt, and it makes you fail the test of life. What's the point of getting Rs 10,000 but loosing your very self forever? In this life doing what's right is not always immediately personally beneficial, but the consequences in the next life are immeasurable. Most people assume they are basically good. However when arguing if hatred erupts and all sorts of mean insults come out of our mouths this in God's sight is murder! To really pass life's main test, it has to be our devotion to resist all temptation not just porno, although this is a good place to start. Is this your greatest aim? If not you may pass everything else but fail God's exam.

So many guys have come to me saying that they tried to give up porno but were unable. They did not realize they were addicted until they learnt it was wrong and tried to stop watching it. Then the battle began! The problem is that in our inner being we have such moral weakness. However God will give a new nature to any one who truly wants to change. Actually no one can overcome bad habits, laziness, excessive lust, anger, selfishness or greedy attitudes by their own determination alone. Try it! We lack something on the inside. Something has gone wrong with the human design, something only God can fix. He has a rescue plan to give new zeal for fighting temptation, new reactions to when people insult us, and new self-control to overcome blue movies.

I was an atheist, with no faith at all. While at college some of my friends believed in God and for the first time in my life I started to think about it. My friends persuaded me to try and have a personal relationship with God as my father in heaven. As soon as I began to chat to Him and confess each day the things I had done wrong, I began to experience His changing power. As I began to take the exam He gives seriously I found out that more than anyone He wants people to pass! My Dad was also an atheist but said the biggest proof that God exists was the change in my life. Also after experiencing the power of God I began to have a genuine concern for the world we live in. Before that time I did not really care. People ask me why I left England to come to live in India, the answer is definitely because I feel a higher calling, or purpose, part of a divine plan. I told God I would do with my life what ever he wanted, after all He has the best plan. I thought it would be really boring, but serving the infinite Almighty one is the best way of living. It is clean, honourable, noble and pure to live for what is right, starting by allowing a caring Fatherly God to clean up our own lives.

Look at a caterpillar. It starts out as a worm, hibernates for a few weeks and emerges as a beautiful flying butterfly. This is what God wants to do in everyone's life. But he will not force anyone. We all start out as worms. How many guys in your class watch porno? Most stay as worms and miss out on the most important thing in life. Do you want to be transformed?

Boys Marrying Boys?

One of the worst fruits of immersion into pornography is the potential it has to change the orientation of someone's sexuality. In the western countries where there has been such an increase in homosexuality that they have even legalized gay marriage. The homosexual lobby has become a powerful political force. This has reached such a level that in some parts of the west (e.g. Europe and Canada) you can be sent to jail even if you just condemn the practise of a man sleeping with a man. Lesbianism is rampant. In history there are famous cities like Sodom and Gomorrah which God completely wiped out because of the homosexual perversion.^[13] If you explain the issue of homosexuality to a year 10 class, look at their reaction. They are horrified and disgusted. That is the correct reaction. It is un-natural and debase.

Be warned. There is link between porno and the change in orientation of sexuality. When sexual restraint is thrown off, gratification is quickly reduced from normal porn and people look for: hard porn; child porn; or violent porn. Subsequently, guys loose satisfactions in girls completely and turn to homosexuality for perverse stimulation! Do you want this to happen to you? Don't laugh. We can not play around with these things. Love is so beautiful and precious it's crazy to pervert, corrupt and waste it in ways that satisfy less because they are not according to the original design. In the short term there seems to be great fun and enjoyment but in the long term its doomed to pain and frustration in lifestyles that don't work, (as the west has proved). India legalized homosexuality a few years back and many politicians are trying to legalize gay marriage. It is time to rise up and be outspoken against this. Such practises and their sources need to be exposed and condemned not encouraged.

What happens in our social circles if this is left to avalanche? In India boys keep be a little distance from girls and vice versa due to the potential attraction which potentially exists. Therefore guys are closest to many guys in friendship except for the one girl who comes along to be the one to be loved and married. However in many western countries today, (I know because I am from England), boys can't get too close even to boys without the boy feeling suspicious: "Does he like me, is he homosexual?". Homosexuality fuelled by pornography has become so pervasive that guys have been robbed of close friendships; 'chumminess'. Platonic touches of pure friendship are now impossible without arousing suspicion even from the same sex! Homosexuals say "Our lifestyle is our own choice, it does not affect any one else." Yes it does! It ruins friendship on mass. Guys can no longer be really close to guys.

Immorality grows to such extent in countries that don't firmly put the breaks on that you can not even talk to, let alone play with someone else's children without arousing suspicion as to whether or not you are a paedophile, that is after their children for the purpose of lust, to rape them! In India we are not at this level yet, but if continue on this path, we will end up in this same place, (as the rest of the world proves). 'Meera Barath Mahan'! Yes India is great, but India you are losing your greatness. You have a better family culture compared to most countries, why do you want to lose it? Here you can be chummy and close in innocence with friends of the same gender. Here you can play with neighbours children without any issues. Let's not lose this harmony and order by opening the door to a flood of perversion by allowing the whole generation of youths to be immersed in pornography with these inevitable consequences.

One student told me he was homosexual but did not want to be and asked what he should do. I told him to quit all wrong relationships and pray regularly for God's help to change him. I met him about a year later and he shared with joy that he had quit but only by praying at least five times a day, specifically that God would give him self control. If you pray for a government job, God may not answer, (everyone prays for government job), but if you earnestly pray for purity and self control the true God will definitely answer you. The young humble student was delivered with God's kind help.

The Intensity Of The Entry Level

Romance is so intensely pleasurable in the early stages. This is why parents try to keep their daughters distant from boys and expect them to be home early, as it is so easy for them to 'fall' in love. This is why we have single-sex high schools and colleges so that love is not awakened too early. Propriety is maintaining correct distance and appropriate behaviour between boys and girls. People go to one of two extremes on this issue: some give complete restriction so that if they ever see a boy and girl talking they assume they are sleeping together! This leads to so much suspicion and accusation. They allow no room for interaction in a pure way between boys and girls. This extreme is usually practised in villages. Others, like in the west, have no restriction: boys and girls are allowed to spend time alone even in the evenings. This leads to so much temptation, inappropriate romance and immorality. We need to find a good balance between the two extremes.

Aids

Most people have heard about AIDS, caused by the HIV virus, but some don't realize how exactly it is mostly transferred. The HIV virus destroys the human defence system. This is like the army inside your body. If a country wants to attack India, first they must take out the army. HIV destroys the immune system so that any number of diseases can infest the body and gradually, over about seven years, the body disintegrates. People don't die of AIDS, they die from a multitude of diseases that AIDS has allowed in to the body. Viruses, fungi and parasites may affect nearly every organ system^{[19][20]}. Other common consequences are: prolonged fevers, various viral induced cancers^[18], meningitis in the brain, retinitis in the eyes, TB in lungs, tumors in multiple organs including the skin and chronic diarrhea. The most common initial conditions that alert to the presence of AIDS are pneumocystis pneumonia^[17].

The HIV virus can be transferred from direct blood contact with someone else's blood who is HIV positive but this is extremely unlikely. If you fall off your bike and graze your arm, do you run up to someone else who is bleeding and touch your blood to theirs? Even if you did still there is only slight chance of transferring HIV. Now that we know more about hygiene, blood is tested before transfusion and needles are changed for each new patient by doctors giving injections. You are too old now to get HIV from a parent. However if a person is HIV positive and you have a sexual relationship with them within several months you have an 80%^[21] of being infected with HIV in this way it is estimated 84%^[22] of HIV patients caught it through immoral sexual activities by themselves or their spouse.

AIDS is a clear sign that our Creator designed marriage as the best way for people to live and that he will not sit quietly if people en masse adopt other lifestyles and play with sex without commitment. An 'innocent' guy goes to a lodge to sleep with new girlfriend he's known for only a short time. She leaves very early the next morning before he's awake with a note on the bed reading: "Welcome to the world of AIDS." Again and again we hear these stories of guys or girls who know they have AIDS but still sleep with people. This is murder. Immorality has become in some situations suicide! Don't risk it. If a virgin marries a virgin they wont get aids!

Abortion

Genocide means the mass destruction of human life through war or the hands of a ruthless dictator. Cambodia, Rwanda, Nazi Germany, and Stalin's Russia are terrible examples of recent genocides where millions of innocent lives were taken executed evil men. All condemn and lament these occurrences of genocide which has reared its ugly head repeatedly throughout history. However what few realize is that the biggest genocide is happening in our generation, right now. It is also an attack on the most innocent members of society: the children. Previous genocides were millions but this one is hundreds of millions [2]. Twenty crore children have been killed in the last 40 years in India alone. That is 30 times more than the number of Jews Adolf Hitler killed!

Who is killing all these children? Their parents. How are they killing them? Giving them poison or cutting them to pieces. Why are they killing them? Because they are: unwanted; too much work; a little bit disabled; too expensive to bring up; and thought not to be real human beings as they are small and undeveloped. When are they killing them? Before they are born, while still inside their mother's womb through an abortion. The genocide of babies is one of the greatest evils ever in history and it can and must be stopped.

We need to answer some critical questions: Why do people have abortions? Are they ever justifiable? How far developed is the foetus / baby when the abortions are carried out? How is an abortion done? How many are actually taking place? What does God think about abortion? What can we do to stop this?

First a question for you: when does life begin? At birth or conception or some time in between the two? The reason for including the photos in this book is so that you can answer this question. In New Zealand a new law was enforced recently that made it compulsory for mothers to see these photos before they were allowed to request an abortion.

When does life begin?

What is the difference between the foetus and a born baby? Size and stage of development but not value or humanity. An abortion ends a human life: it is a murder. It is not just an operation to remove a failed kidney or appendix. It is killing of a baby. Not a potential human being but a human being with potential. Biologically there is no difference between a foetus in the womb and a baby outside other than stage of development. The only difference is that the one outside is wanted. Foetus comes from Latin word meaning young one or young child. In the famous cartoon film "Horton hears a Who!"^[16] is the prophetic line: "Even though you can't see them or hear them at all, a person is a person however small." If it's a person, then abortion is always wrong whatever the reason. For those who argue that life begins at birth I would like to ask a question: How about five minutes before the baby is born? One month before it's born? Or if the baby is being born and is half out can you stab it? This is called partial birth abortion. The doctor will stab the baby in its head while the head is still inside its mother but the legs and body are outside. President Obama voted for this type of abortion to be allowed, although once the horror of this abominable practice was publicized it was banned. It was originally justified by saying the baby at this stage was not yet born and so not really alive as the head was still inside! What warped reasoning!

Complex and Human

Let's look at the scientific facts about the foetus. This will help answer the question of whether and at which stage it is a person. A newly fertilized egg contains a staggering amount of genetic information, sufficient to control the individual's growth and development for his entire lifetime. A single thread of DNA from a human cell contains information equivalent to a library of one thousand volumes. By fourteen days the child produces a hormone that suppresses the mother's menstrual period. By thirty days she has multiplied in size ten thousand times. At 40 days the pre-born child's brain waves can be recorded. By 42 days her brain is controlling the movement of muscles and organs. By nine weeks a child will bend fingers around an object placed in the palm. Fingernails are forming and the child is sucking her thumb. By ten weeks the child squints, swallows, and frowns. By eleven weeks she urinates, makes a wide variety of facial expressions, and even smiles. All this happens in the first trimester, the first three months of life. In the remaining six months in the womb nothing new develops or begins functioning. The fully intact child only grows and matures.

The first major organ to be fully operational is the heart, which develops within three weeks. This is essential as blood from the mother needs to be pumped around the foetus' body for growth in every area. Average abortions occur around eight weeks. By this time the baby's heart has been beating for five weeks already. It's an indisputable scientific fact that each and every surgical abortion stops a beating heart and stops already measurable brain waves. What do we call it when a person no longer has a heartbeat or brain waves? Death. What should we call it when there is a heartbeat and there are brain waves? Life. Every abortion ends a human life. In some nations they are trying to bring out the 'heartbeat bill': if you can detect a heart beat the abortion is illegal.

Many adults will not accept abortion as ending a human life. This is mainly because they cannot see the baby in the womb. That is until now. Please use this information and the photos in this book to show all your friends and relatives and save children's lives. Some people don't want to talk about this topic as they or many of their friends have had abortions and so they don't even want to consider that what they threw away was actually a person, with life, their own child. Yes it will cause a little pain to stop this genocide but we are not saying all this to condemn the previous generation but to make sure the next generation does not repeat this terrible mistake.

Some people argue that it is not clear exactly when life begins and so go ahead with an abortion. However surely they should not take the chance in case their foetus has life. For example if you are driving a truck in a primary school at lunch time and you have to reverse and cannot see properly behind, if it's not clear whether there are any children in your path or not, would you continue driving or not? You would not take the chance, just in case a small child is sitting there. For those who are not sure whether there is life in the foetus or not they should not take the chance! The Medical Termination of Pregnancy (MTP) should be renamed MTB: Medical termination of Baby!

In India today, there is a huge and singular group of living human beings who have no protection under the law and are being killed en-masse every day. Is that not astounding?! It is astounding, but not wholly unprecedented. This isn't the first time a specific group of human beings have been stripped of their rights of personhood, and consequently brutalised. 200 years ago we celebrated the abolition of slavery. Africans were sold into slavery and treated as property. This was justified on the premise that they were sub-human. In Nazi Germany, millions of Jews were mistreated and murdered justified on the premise that they were sub-human. There remains one, and only one, group of human beings in the world today for which being human is not enough. The inconvenience of their existence has resulted in a legal loophole of shameful proportions. What is a person? A person is a human being (unless, of course, you haven't been born yet, in which case we'll define personhood in any way possible so as to exclude you, kill you and forget you). This is civilised society?

Why did India legalize Abortion?

The Medical Termination of Pregnancy (MTP) Act, which was enacted by the Indian Parliament in the year 1971, legalized abortion for limited circumstances, to be carried out only by highly qualified experienced gynaecologists and only in government approved hospitals and clinics. The purpose of the medical restrictions was to make abortions safer. Before this time abortion was illegal and if a woman had an abortion she could be imprisoned for up to seven years and the Dr who performed the operation for three years. This had been the law for more than 100 years, correctly understanding abortion as the termination of a child's life. Therefore at that time abortion operations could not be carried out openly. People who still illegally sought for them would have to go to 'back street', under-equipped, simple clinics where the operations were unsafe and unhygienic. In these clinics hundreds of ladies were dying every year. In order to stop this, India legalized abortion. However just because something is unsafe does not mean it should be legalized. For example, escaping fast in a car, after robbing a bank, with a potential high speed police chase is very dangerous. This does not mean we should legalize bank robbing to stop the robbers dying in car accidents! Also having legalized abortion more not less mothers die. How can this be? After legalization demand for abortion increased exponentially. Even though the operation is much safer the mass increase in abortion means that more ladies die as result of abortion complications now. 20,000 ladies a year in India.^[3] The increased safety dwindles into insignificance because of the exponential increase in the numbers of abortion after legalization, leading to more maternal deaths not less: legalization is a failed policy.

An even greater reason for legalization however was to control the population in India. Whenever I teach against abortion in colleges, always someone will stand up and argue that we need abortion to control the population. I ask that student to come forward explaining that I have a gun in my bag and I would like to thank the student for his concern and dedication to help the country by allowing us to terminate him! The student often says: "Not me, my baby!" before he has a chance to realize what he has said. Over-population is an important subject but the answer is not to kill some of the children!

40 years back there were 3.5 billion people on earth. At that time so many felt that the world would no longer be able to feed its inhabitants if the population grew any more. They felt there would be imminent mass death due to starvation. However now the population has crossed seven billion. Somehow the world has found a way to feed twice as many people as were alive when they were panicing unnecessarily about the population increase. The only place where people starve to death today is where there are wars or extreme famine, not where the population is large! As the population has increased so has technology enabling much more of the earth to be cultivated with masses of space still available for increase. Wells are dug deeper today than ever providing mass increase in water supply to irrigate multitudes of new farmlands. The population in India in the 1960 census was 400 million. We have trebled our population since they legalized abortion! Abortion does not control the population nor did it need to. How many people are starving today in India? None. That fear led to twenty crore babies being executed unnecessarily!

There are several groups of Indians who will not have abortions: Muslims and Catholics for example. So they have an average of about five children per family whilst Hindus and Buddhists and Jains have average two children. So the population will not be controlled if all the Hindus have abortions, the nation will just become less Hindu! The demographics will change, the population will continue to increase. The Times of India quoted a report that said that India will become majority Muslim by 2035.^[4] Following this an RSS leader encouraged all Hindus to have three children each not just two!

The motivation for controlling the population was to avoid poverty. With a tripled population India is now the most prosperous it has ever been! The largest two countries in the world: China and India are among the few that have growing economies whilst the rest of the world teeters on the verge of economic collapse. With outsourcing and internet technologies 'large' no longer means poor.

The MTP (or MTB) law allows abortion mainly for extreme reasons such as rape, severe handicap of the baby or if the mother's life is in danger. However today these three reasons combined account for only 1% or 2% of abortions!^[5] The main reason now is that the child is simply not wanted. People en masse are misusing the spirit of the original MTP Act to avoid the responsibility of looking after an extra child. Terminating it seems a better option, if people are ignorant to the true murderous nature of abortion. Later we'll look more carefully at some of the main real reasons why people practise abortion.

How many abortions are happening?

When we answer this question in the colleges many start to cry. The worst thing about abortion is that it has grown unrestrained to epidemic proportions. Half a million babies are killed in Karnataka, for instance, through abortion every year, that's 1500 every day or all the students in four average colleges killed EVERY DAY! If one college was blown up by terrorists once a year, the whole world would hear about it and help us stop the terrorist group, but few are bothering to address the issue of this baby genocide.

Abortions Stats: [2] [8]

Statistics	Births / Year	Population	Abortions / year	Aborts. / month	Aborts. / Day	Adult women per 1k men
India	25 mill	1.2 bil	11 mill	9 lakh		940
Karnataka		60 mill	5 lakh		1500
Bangalore city		Almost 1 Crore		7000	240	900
Mysore district		23 lakh		2100	70

For every three pregnancies one is aborted. This means we are killing one third of all the children God is giving us in India.^[10] It is meant to be a womb not a tomb. If you see a pregnant lady you give her your seat. All look after her to protect the baby. That's how it should be. However the womb has become the most dangerous place in India. Statistically it is more dangerous than in the forest with terrorists, national highway in rush hour, or the Pakistan/India border for soldiers! A one in three chance of being poisoned or chopped up!

When we share these statistics to newspaper editors at first they don't believe them. The reaction is, if there are really this many babies being killed why is not anyone else shouting about it? Because it messes with people's freedoms having to have more children. People want the fun but not the fruit. That's why they don't want to deal with this issue. But there are hundreds of youths beginning to shout...

Methods Of Abortion

1. Baby Poison

Abortions can be split into two groups: medical and surgical. It takes about one month or more for a lady to find out that she is pregnant. After this there is a short period in which tablets (medical) can terminate the pregnancy otherwise an operation is necessary (surgical).

The abortion tablets operate in different ways. Some cause the mother's womb to act as if its time for the baby to be born and so her muscles push the baby out of the womb. For a nine month old baby the bones are strong enough to survive the push, to be born healthily. However at six to eight weeks, the new baby is so fragile that the mother's contractions crush its tiny body to death. It's like putting a new born child next to a wall and driving a bulldozer into it. Do you want your body to become a baby crusher? Other abortion tablets or injections directly kill the baby (like saline solution). Either way the tablets kill the child. What do you call a medicine which when taken causes the person to die? Poison. Please in future always refer to the abortion tablet for what it really is: baby poison! In an average India city like Mysore, in this way 35 children are poisoned per day or 1000 a month^[9]. That's one primary school class of children poisoned every day in every city of India!

Our team and other students have visited dozens of medical shops and tried to persuade them to stop selling baby poison. Some deny it so we started to ask them first for abortion tablets before we reveal our purpose. Most gave them even without a doctor's prescription which is totally illegal. Then we show them the photos in this book of the pre-born babies. We took videos in many places and threatened to give them to the press. This stopped the distribution of this 'medicine' for some time. It's good to keep reminding medical shops that the purpose of their medicine is to save life not take it. When you visit your doctor, after you receive his advice and medicine for your sickness you can ask for an abortion tablet and see if he gives it. If so, plead with him to stop killing babies.

2. D and E

This is the most common method of abortion in India. It is also the most cruel and violent. The baby's body is systematically cut into pieces and pulled out of the mother's womb. The baby is too big to come out in one go (around 2-3 months) so it is cut out piece by piece (dilation and curette, D&C) or if done at later stages of the pregnancy (4-5 months) it is performed as described below, (dilation and evacuation D&E). The doctor will enlarge the lady's entrance to her womb. He will insert an instrument like cutting pliers and first grab a leg. He will twist the pliers to tear off the limb and pull it out. He will continue limb by limb and finally snap the spine and crush the head to bring it out. The photos at the back of this book clearly show this savage act. These photos were taken from text books which are used to train gynaecologists to perform this operation. After removing all the limbs the abortionist arranged the dismembered parts on the table to make sure nothing is missing as seen in the last photo. There is a saying in a holy book: "What ever you do to the unborn babies will be done to you! An eye for an eye, leg for leg, life for life." Perhaps that is why there is such an increase in terrorist bombs blowing up all around the world, killing people or leaving them without arms or legs! I am sure God does not want to harm anyone but he will be strict to deter people from harming the most innocent members of society: the babies. When I teach this around Karnataka I hear many testimonies like nurses who took part in so many abortion operations, by throwing away the aborted babies. At young ages they tell of having strokes - leaving their hands, that threw away the babies, paralyzed. People are alarmed about global warming and climate change leading to an increase of massive natural disasters but perhaps these come from another source. If you were God what would you do if everyone is murdering your children you created?

Using this method 120 babies are ripped apart every day in Bangalore and 3500 every month! Just imagine if some drunk guys went to a primary school and cut off a small screaming girl's arms and legs and ran off. How would you react? Even without drink we are chopping up four lakhs babies every month in India. Someone needs to stop this.

Some doctors have self-interest to carry out abortions: money. How many have lied about the health of the foetus and a perfectly healthy child is born? They get lots of money for the fairly quick simple abortion procedure. On the other hand, one abortionist watched the ultra sound scan of the baby trying to avoid the knife, trying to escape from its doom of being cut to pieces and never performed an abortion again.

3. Hysterotomy

In one of the photos, near the front page, you can see four babies in a waste bin. Late term abortions are carried out by having a caesarean operation. This is normally used for complicated deliveries in which the mother's womb is cut open and the baby safely taken out at about nine months and put into an intensive care unit (ICU). This is when the baby is wanted. However if the baby is not wanted the same operation is carried out at around five or six months into the pregnancy. The womb is cut and the baby taken out whole but instead of being put into an ICU it is put in the bin! Sometimes the baby starts to cry after being taken out and is left on the doctor's table struggling for life until it dies. Even at this early stage if put into an ICU it would have a good chance of surviving! So on one side of the hospital is a lady having a (six months) baby that she wants and on the other side at the same stage of pregnancy a lady having a baby she does not want. Both have the caesarean operation. Both babies are born healthily. One is put into the place where they can give it intensive care, the other is left to die and thrown into the bin! We need to expose this evil!

After we did an abortion seminar in one church, one lady shared her experience. She had worked for a little time in a nursing clinic. One day the nurse asked her to empty the waste bin outside. As she did, three dead babies fell out! She left her job. This was in Nanjungud near Mysore. This is not just happening abroad but all over India.

You can near the front of this book the photo of Baby Amillia born at only five months, that is four months early. She spent four months being carefully looked after in hospital before her mother could take her home perfectly healthy. If during that time a doctor had come even with the mother's permission and stabbed the baby and ended its life they would have been put in prison. However if Amillia had not been born early but the mother wanted an abortion and asked the doctor to stab her baby inside her womb people say she did a good thing for the country! What hypocrisy!

Hysterotomy Abortionist's Testimony

"The doctors would remove the foetus while performing hysterotomies and then lay it on the table, where it would squirm until it died. They all had perfect forms and shapes. I couldn't take it. No nurse could."

Joyce Craig, director of a Brooklyn clinic of Planned Parenthood, who assisted in abortion for two months, then quit.

"You would just look in the buckets and see arms and legs. I have horrible dreams about that now. It was something you would see in a scary movie."

Former clinic worker Kirsten Breedlove

"I look inside the bucket in front of me. There is a small naked person in there, floating in a bloody liquid- plainly the tragic victim of a drowning accident. But then perhaps this was no accident, because the body is purple with bruises and the face has the agonised tautness of one forced to die too soon.

"Pro-abortion" author Magda Denes "Performing Abortions" ^[12]

"I remember an experience as a resident on a hysterotomy. I remember seeing the baby move underneath the sack of membranes, as the caesarean incision was made, before the doctor broke the water. The thought came to me, "My God, that's a person" Then he broke the water. And when he broke the water, it was like I had a pain in my heart, just like when I saw that first suction abortion. Dr in training.

"And then he delivered the baby and I couldn't touch it. I wasn't much of an assistant. I just stood there and the reality of what was going on finally began to seep into my calloused brain and heart. They took that little baby that was making little sounds and moving and kicking and set it on that table in a cold, stainless steel bowl. Every time I would look over while we were repairing the incision in the uterus and finishing the Caesarean. I would see that little person moving in that bowl. And it kicked and moved less and less, of course, as time went on. I can remember going over and looking at the baby when we were done with the surgery and the baby was still alive. You could see the chest was moving and the heart was beating, and the baby would try to take a little breath until the battle was over and it moved no more and it really hurt inside, and it began to educate me as to what abortion really was." ^[11]

4. Other Methods

There are other barbaric methods of abortion like sucking the baby out with a vacuum cleaner-like machine which is 29 times more powerful than that used to clear the inside of cars or carpet in houses. Also injecting saline solution into the womb which burns all the baby's skin and it dies.

Negative Effects On Mothers

As well as the baby, the mother also suffers through having an abortion. There have been many studies into the after effects of abortion. Their combined results paint a haunting picture of physical and psychological damage among millions of women who have undergone abortions.

There are negative after effects on women: Some of the women who have abortions have complications in subsequent pregnancies and 3 to 5% would be barren for a life time.^[23] They have a greater risk of breast cancer. The worst effects are emotional; they are five times more likely to have problems with drugs and alcohol. Some ladies have many immoral relations followed by abortions. Finally they settle down, get married and find themselves barren: not able to have any children. They come to realize that all the children they would ever have given birth to, they have killed! One such lady was feeling terrible when her Mum, a woman of strong faith phoned her telling her to come back to God: as he would forgive her of anything, even if she had killed someone. She had had four abortions and was now barren. Her Mum's words shook her emotions and she began to believe in and enjoy God's love and forgiveness for her. She has now devoted her life to saving babies by speaking against abortion.

Hope

I realize that some of your aunties, mothers, students in your class or you yourself might have had an abortion. I am not writing this book to condemn anyone, but to stop it happening. Some resort to violence against doctors who kill babies, but that will never help at all. We should always speak gently to those involved with abortion. Most are plain ignorant as to what they are doing or have done. However we can also help them overcome their guilt after we share this.

They and we need to understand that who ever made this world and universe is the most patient, kind, loving person there has ever been. The supreme original creator God is far beyond human, as we can see from the awesome complexity and beauty of what he has made. He does not argue or get angry like us, is not selfish or over demanding. He does not have a lust problem,; watch porno, or have lots of girl friends. These ideas don't match the awesomeness of what he has created, like the ten thousand billion, billion stars scientists tell us are in the universe. He is so powerful and bigger than all our problems. He alone can deal with the problem of our lust and selfish nature. He would definitely want to come into this world, as a perfect human to show the way to real life. He would solve man's three main problems: our guilt, our 'gone-wrong' human nature and reverse death itself, if we submitted to him. He does not need to come to deal with the Saddam Husseins, Hitlers or Veerappans, the police and armies can do that. If this infinite being came to the earth he would solve these three far worse problems. If He really is God, he could easily do these: (1) Guilt: there is a divine court case against every one of us for the hundreds of things we have done wrong: hurting people with insults, laughing at bad jokes, watching wrong programs on TV, our porno cheating in exams, neglect in home or work place when boss or parents not present. In India we have a great culture: sacrifice of animals representing God's just punishment coming on the lamb or chicken instead of us. This is a great symbol of God's grace, but I think we need more than just a lamb to get us out of trouble. How many lambs do the police allow to be sent to prison in the place of the robbers? There are so many things wrong with this world that perhaps the only sacrifice big enough for God to clear everyone's guilt would be God himself! What if God came to the earth to die as a sacrifice for our sin? What a loving, faithful, forgiving, caring Creator we have! (2) We need human heart - 2.0 . We need an update of our human operating system. We need a divine download to stop us doing wrong and compromising. I believe this is what God is doing across the earth in every nation en masse today, giving a new nature to those who keep on asking Him for it. They are transformed on the inside to be genuinely changed and with new reactions. Why don't you go on your roof or into a field, or get alone in your room with your Creator or when you lie down at night and keep asking for this greatest gift. (3) To live forever and not die. Wow, that would really need a big miracle, but possible for whoever made the sun which is one million times bigger than the earth. Man's greatest need is to be forgiven for what he's done wrong, have the heavenly court case against him acquitted, have an operation on His spirit by the hand of God to start loving truth, humility and everything good and hate what's wrong, and so to pass life's test and live forever in paradise with God after this life's over.

Search for a God who can do these three things for you. If you are struggling with lust then pray to a God who when he visited the earth did not have a lust problem! One who never married when he came, will definitely be able to deliver you from porno and immorality. The best thing in life is enjoying the love God has for us. Every day he whispers that he loves you, what ever you have done. He wants to take your hand and live with you in everything. He can be your best friend; He is mine.

What Can We Do? Ten Simple Actions

The question you may or should be asking is: "What can we do to stop all these bad things in India?". In rescue which is 90% youths, we met weekly and discussed this for a few months and prayed for wisdom and God's guidance. The youths came up with so many excellent ideas which we tried out in a small way then en masse. At first we went to high schools, but then found our programs to be more effective in PUC and Degree colleges, although we still do year ten high school. Here are ten suggestions of some action you can take:

- (1) Why don't you start a weekly discussion with other students in your college, you'll be amazed at the enthusiasm that is stirred up.
- (2) Then carefully research this subject. This is easy for you as this book represents three years of extensive study and local surveys. You can also google 'pro-life' on the internet. We have many videos on you-tube accessed though our web site: www.rescue108.com .
- (3) You need to start sharing this subject and debating with others. By heart a few points about how abortions are done, how many?, and why? Also be able to argue why films and porno are spoiling true romance and purity in India. Tell your family, cousins, neighbours and friends. Then you can try going from door to door in your native place or village. Take someone else with you.
- (4) Take action, by sharing these things with those involved in the porno or abortion industry: down load centres, medical shops, theatres, DVD shops, cyber cafés, nursing clinics.
- (5) Go back to your old high school, your old headmaster will be delighted to allow his x-student to teach on morals to his students. Take one year ten class for 40 minutes. If it goes well, ask to have opportunity to go from class to class to cover all year ten. If you are a degree student you can then try your old or other PUC colleges. To get into government and city high schools (apart from your own) is hard without registration and permission from BEO, private and village schools and PUC colleges are easier. If you have five committed friends you can cover all the PUC college in your Taluk, taking just 3 days holiday once per year. We from rescue are also willing to send one of our team to help you organize and we also travel training other new teams. This is presently a youth movement to rescue the soul of India. However, we have many part time adult volunteers who are welcome. The advantage of working in the education department is that you can cover almost everyone including all future leaders, if you keep going back to the college every two years and it's free to do so, unlike TV programs!, if you don't collect money you don't need to register.

(6) Government officers and MLAs: Presently some are trying to legalize homosexuality in India. Any future ban on abortion has to come through the government, so all MLAs and MPs and all political party members have to be made aware of the terrible nature of abortion and reality of life of the unborn. This is a long term strategy, as it takes a huge movement to change laws, but we have thousands of students passionate to stop abortion. All things are possible to those who believe, nothing is impossible with God.

(7) Newspapers and Magazines: Newspaper are read by lakhs of people. After TV they form the greatest opportunity for influencing people's opinions. In some of the papers we have sent articles to, people who want abortions have complained by sending letters to the editors and so the paper will no longer publish our articles. Those who are pro-life (anti abortion) should also write into the editors asking for more articles against abortion. Also you can write and send articles if you get high marks in English or Kannada. To be published the article has to be the present day's news, i.e. connected to something happening that day, e.g. a march or students ripping down bad posters; with a photo. We need to be creative how to attract the press's attention. Local papers are more easier to penetrate. For example, you could launch 240 balloons to represent the 240 babies being killed each day in Bangalore through abortion. Call the press, have the articles pre-written, or take the photos yourself and go and visit a news paper editor. They are always desperate for interesting articles!

(8) The Police are responsible for making sure Indian laws are followed. Since most abortions are legal, they can't do much here, but pornography is very illegal. Do a survey on how many download centres are distributing porno and blue movies and give the results to the sub-inspector. Tell him how the boys in your class are almost all addicted to porno and share how it is spoiling marriages and peoples' lives en masse in India, even leading to the slaughter of babies. Ask them to send officers from neighbouring Taluks who are unknown here, in civilian dress to ask for porno and catch the shops red handed. Ask them to take strict action on those caught and inform the press so that other shops will be alarmed. Ask them gently not to accept bribes from the shops they catch.

(9) Petitions and Letter writing: Anyone who gets high marks in English or Kannada can use their skill to write letters to authorities, news paper editors, MLAs, and TV stations. You could organize a petition signing with all the students of your college to help towards any of the following goals:

1. Anti-abortion and anti-pornography teaching should be included in year 10 and PUC syllabus.
2. Film sensor boards should have lots of pressure on them to ban all movies with nude scenes or that promote immorality.
3. Every Internet web site with porno should be blocked by cyber police.
4. All abortion should be illegal in India. Perhaps the 1st step would be to ban the 98% which are just due to contraception failure.

(10) Every Taluk should have a 'Rescue' Team to work towards these goals and do programs in their schools and colleges. You can contact us through the mobile number on our web site,^[14] if you would like to work with us. One big solution to abortion would be the change of the human heart from selfishness, immorality and greed to humility, a serving heart and growing in love. Only God can give a new heart like this and He does to those who desire this more than anything.

Reasons Why People Have Abortions

(1) Poverty

Babies are perceived to be expensive. If someone already has two children they imagine that they cannot afford the third. Their baby's clothes, education, food will be a great burden. However, if we look back two generations to our grandparents time, how many children did they have on an average?, five or ten? How did they afford to bring up so many children? Children are not that expensive. Babies eat so little and can adjust with their elder brother's or sister's clothes. How many of your aunties or uncles starved to death? (Your grandparents' children). None. If they had enough money to feed their children at that time, then definitely we have the resources, now that India is more prosperous than any other time in history! Today the government gives free education, free uniform, free food and clothes to children in government schools. "But people want to send all their children to private schools." What would that third child prefer if asked in the womb? Would you like to go to a government school or be killed? The problem is our pride, our self imposed standard of living, our over materialistic expectations for us and our children. Actually the middle class in India have higher abortion rates than the villages. These are the very people who can definitely afford another child, but don't want to have less money for themselves! So kill the kids and buy an a/c car, own house and a new smart phone instead! In the villages children used to be seen as an asset to help the farming and gain more money not a liability! Since God gives food to all the street dogs, ants and birds, how much more will He provide for how ever many children we give birth to? If someone's small child is really sick, there is no limit to how much we will spend to save their lives, can't we have just a little of this love on our child just before its born as well? If poverty justifies abortion, does that mean we can take someone's life just because they have little money? Could we take a bulldozer into a slum and destroy everything, including the people as they are poor and so don't have a life worth living? If you worked for a foreign company in a well paid job, and had three children and one day the company went bust, would it be ok to terminate the last baby as now you can't afford to bring it up?, No, then we can never justify abortion in the name of perceived or real poverty.

Poverty is a real evil and needs to be fought. There are things that need to be changed: corruption, drinking, laziness, addicted to loans, gambling and wars. Solving these problems should be a poor family's and the nation's devotion, but killing children is never a solution to poverty!

(2) Immorality

We looked earlier at the beauty of romance and having a life-time lover through marriage. We saw the need for this covenant, pledging life time commitment before a relationship is consummated in intercourse. Without this commitment pregnancy is occurring in female students when unmarried youths sleep together. Without seeing the photos of the baby in the womb shown in this book, young girls are having abortions to hide their immorality, ignorant of the murder they have committed of their own child. They feel that they can't continue their studies or face their family or society, if they continue with their pregnancy. What should be done in such circumstances? First of all as we have already described, such a wonderful gift of sexual intimacy should be treasured to such an extent and not cheaply used or played with just for fun. Then the unmarried pregnant girl scenario would not occur. Second if people are taught about the reality of life of the unborn, then youths would be much slower to have immoral relationships. Family planning is never 100% successful. There is a large chance of unwanted pregnancy. If abortion is exposed for what it is, then many more girls would refuse to sleep with their boyfriends, until they are married as abortion would not be an option. The reality of sex leading to pregnancy is meant to be a deterrent to having immoral relationships.

However, if an unmarried girl gets pregnant, she should marry the father of the child she is carrying. Their act of intimacy was their marriage; in one way they are already married, now the boy should just commit himself legally to her for life. If the boy is unwilling and the girl is bold, she can contact Mahila Dourjanya Samithi, or Karnataka Mahila Ayoga (080 22216 48586) they will take DNA test of the girl, the boy and the baby (as proof they have the right father) and arrange their marriage. If the boy will not agree he can be imprisoned for up to five years and given up to two lakhs fine especially if the girl is under 18.

If the guy is already married the girl can be looked after in a home until she has the child and then give it for adoption. There are lakhs of barren ladies in India waiting for a child. We are often asked by such ladies for babies to adopt, we don't have to kill them.

Once married, life time faithfulness to that single partner maximizes sexual fulfilment as already described. The grass is not greener on the other side. That interested loose girl in the office is a missile from hell to destroy your marriage and family, don't believe the lie. The problem today is that people do not know this and have relationships. They keep it a secret from their married partner and if their girl friend gets pregnant they want to cover it up by having an abortion: killing the evidence. For the sake of their 'fun' they are willing to take the life of a child?

(3) Enough Children Already

This is by far the most common reason for abortion. This is about your future. You may be tempted by this argument 10 years from now. Statistically about one in three people have abortions - if they have not been exposed to the truth about life in the womb. How many children do you want to have after you are married? Perhaps you have not thought about it or perhaps you immediately said, "Two enough." Since family planning (that which limits pregnancy) is average 80% effective (over 1 year relationship), which means that vast numbers of un-planned pregnancies occur. Therefore, if you decide with your future partner you want two children, you should rather say that you want about two children, (as God has not given a full proof family planning method, apart from sterilization), and so it may be three or four children God gives you. Otherwise you are setting yourselves up to be tempted to terminate your own children.

Children are: hard work; in need of discipline; naughty, but nice; cute and creative; messy and noisy; playful; forgiving; loving and in need to lots of attention. God will give you a life partner and children as objects of your love. Love is the best thing in life and children are designed to bring out maximum love from us, remove our self centeredness, teach us responsibility and leadership and make us into mature human beings. Your children will enjoy your jokes and playing when no one else does. Your children will long for your company when no one else does.

In India today many older people do not want to even consider what we are saying here. It is an inconvenient truth. They want their sex, but do not want the consequences. They want the fun but not the fruit. Just think about how intercourse works: at the climax of the experience there is a transfer from the male to the female in order to fertilize an egg and conceive new life. Clearly it is designed to lead to pregnancy, who are we to fully change the design? Some would, therefore argue against the use of contraception altogether and simply say we will have as many children as God gives us.

Actually, there are many advantages to large family sizes. One boy and one girl don't play so well together. The boy wants to play soldiers and the girl play with dolls. Having a number of boys and girls in your family means your children will play with potentially less need for your constant input! We all want brothers and sisters, so why not give this as a gift to your children, (by having more children), rather than an x-box as company. Just imagine in several years time going to the park with your two sons and two daughters and all their laughter as you play with them! Also, ponder that every time when they come home from school, they run up to you saying: "Mummy!". Having more children gives you, the worth you desire, makes you feel special as you are. If you have just one child then they are incorrectly the focus of all attention and they come to know about it and often become spoilt and totally selfish. The parents should be the centre of attention, handling it with humility and satisfaction.

Children are hard work, but so is everything that is satisfying. The top professional cricketer has to practise hard for hours every day in the hot sun. The successful business man has to put in long pressurized hours in the office everyday. And so the satisfied parents have to work hard bringing up their children, but with awesome rewards.

What often happens is that after the first two children are in primary school, the mum is suddenly semi-retired! She is free to rest more, watch more TV and thinks: "This is much easier now, I don't want any more children." However, what if the husband did this? After working full time for four years, can he go part time, leave Wipro and join Mac-Donalds for just four hours a day? Any guy that did this, we would say is a lazy, irresponsible guy. Then how can the girls do this? Her house work is only four hours a day. Looking after the children is the other half of her responsibility. Once her 1st two children go to school, she is more free to have the next two children! Its funny that in every other area of life we want growth and increase except the most important area. We want big business more staff, more orders, more education and degrees, but how about more children? My Granddad Reuben Jacob had 13 children, my Dad was his last child. I am glad he had a large family otherwise, I would not be here! Some parents are so disappointed after putting all their hopes in their one child who turns out completely different to their expectations. Having several children gives far more chances of one being very gifted, one bright, one successful in business, one very loving. Don't put all your eggs in one basket!

What are you actually alive for? What is the purpose of your life? Why did God make you? Big questions. Clearly one purpose is to learn to serve. The root of most problems is selfishness and greed. Having and then serving our children is a tough training process designed by God, to make us into servants who God will accept forever.

However, I am not primarily arguing for large families, but that if God gave one or two more than we planned, we should not abort them, but see the higher purpose of God and the advantages of including them in our family. I am not mainly saying have no contraception, but have no abortion. People say they don't want more children due to population explosion in India. However, this is just an excuse. Laziness, selfishness and misunderstanding the wonder of participating in creating and rearing new life are often the real reasons. Even pro- abortion agencies in their surveys admit that 94% of all abortions are not for the extreme commonly stated reasons, but just simply because the babies are not wanted.

Extreme Cases

As soon as you start speaking out that abortion is wrong, people will bring up the extreme examples to try and justify abortion. However, these only account for 2 % of abortions! First let's stop all the 98% of abortions which are not for these reasons. Moreover, these extreme cases are just a smoke screen, people are often wanting abortion allowed for any and every reason, but use these cases to try and win their argument more easily and convince more people. Let's look and see why, even in these situations, it is very dangerous philosophy to justify killing.

(4) Handicapped Babies

Everyone wants healthy children. With modern technology doctors can scan and detect even a small abnormality of the unborn child. If you are about to buy a mobile and the screen is cracked you can reject it. But you cannot do the same with babies. Who would argue for going to a primary school and throwing out all the children who are wearing glasses? If someone is sick they need more love and attention not less. If the doctor told you that the child you are expecting will be born blind would you terminate it? If this is ok then could we go to some of the many blind schools for children with an AK47 and shoot them all? What is the difference between this and aborting a blind child?

Supporters of abortion regularly bring up the hard case of the handicapped child. Their intention is to attempt to make those who value life look heartless, by forcing these suffering women to carry a child they never wanted. This is what is termed a smokescreen - they do not want abortion legalized just for very sick babies, but for any reason or no reason. Ludwig van Beethoven was one of the greatest music composers of all times despite his deafness. Many blind people make excellent music teachers. See the courage displayed in the Para-Olympics. Suffering produces character all have suffering as part of God's design in life.

Can we kill a human being, just because that person is sick? Such a suggestion is barbaric and inhumane and has no place in a just society. There are children of all ages, and adults too, who are alive today and are living through all manner of disease and disability. Is killing everyone who is sick really an acceptable way to treat sickness? Anyone who tries to eliminate suffering by killing the "sufferers" is establishing a very, very, very, very dangerous trend! It is not for us to decide who has a life worth living and who does not. Suffering and hardship are not bad things. They are means to a greater end, a crucial part of the human journey.

An Open Door for Darkness

Once Germany was so poor that the leader Adolf Hitler ordered that all hospitals for handicapped and blind children be closed down terminating the children. This was the first killing at the start of world war two. If we legalize killing for any reason it always leads to a great darkness.

Hitler hated the Jews just because of their religion and he imprisoned and killed them. The existing prisons were not big enough for this genocide and so he built special prison camps for the sole purpose of exterminating Jews. In this manner he took the lives of six million Jews. They had done nothing wrong but were arrested as he considered them unfit to live. He has gone down in history as one of the most evil men ever to live. However today this 'Hitler spirit' is rampant in the world. We kill twice as many children every year, through abortion (in India alone), as Hitler killed Jews throughout the whole of world war two! There is a terrible genocide taking place in our time too, let's stop this present World War Three!

(5) Dying Mother

If a lady's pregnancy would lead to her death is it alright to terminate the baby? This was the famous scenario of Mrs. Savita in Ireland. If a husband had to choose between saving his wife or his future child, instinctively all would choose their wives. This only occurs in one in a thousand abortion cases^[15] and so should never be used to justify the other 99.9% of abortions. If the foetus is already dead, then to remove it is wise to save the mother. However, if the baby is alive, then the doctors have to struggle to save the Mother and the child's life. I don't know any mother who would not risk her life to try and save their born baby's life if such a situation arose. Why are we not willing to risk our lives to try and save our unborn babies life? In Ireland they save thousands of babies each year as they will not kill children. They also save many mothers lives as abortion is illegal. Remember 20,000 ladies die a year in India through abortion complications. Abortion kills more mothers than it saves!

(6) Rape

After one college meeting three burdened Muslim girls asked me, whether abortion was justified if the lady was pregnant due to being raped. This is perhaps the worst thing that could naturally happen to a girl and so it is hard to answer. Fortunately rape accounts for 0.3% of abortions^[15]. However, the rapist should definitely be punished if caught. But the child should not be punished for its father's crime. The abortion would only spoil the mothers life more. Abortion opens up the parents to a murder spirit, which will increase the person's anger level dramatically. The lady can have the child and give it to a caring orphanage or for adoption, if she does not want it. Again, the issue of rape is not solved by killing the product of rape, but by dealing with its root. We don't stop rapes by killing the children produced, but by stopping our children from watching the blue movies which inspire rape.

(7) Girl Massacre

The Most commonly protested reason for abortion is gender. Due to the expense of paying for the dowry and marriage for a daughter, parents prefer to have boys.

With the legalization of abortion, a method came into existence, whether parents want the child or not based on its sex. Ultrasound scanning the foetus can easily determine its gender. Aamir Khan in his famous 'Satyamev Jayate' TV program highlighted this. In Bangalore for every 1000 boys there are 900 girls. This means that 10% of boys will never find a wife! This has happened all over India. It is a sign of the consequences of messing with the laws of nature or God's laws through terminating pregnancies. Such a lack of girls, leads to increase in rape and human trafficking; two terrible social evils.

To combat this, the Indian Government made gender based abortions illegal and in 2002, stiffened the sentences to three years in prison for any doctor who reveals the gender of a child. Despite this, for bribes, the gender is still being revealed. The 2011 census showed there were 918 boys for 1000 girls under the age of 6 across India. That means that 82 girls are missing per 2000 births (1000 boys and 1000 girls according to nature). That is about 4% or 1 missing girl for every 25 normal births. There are 27 million births every year [6] in India and so about 1 million girls are killed every year through abortion! On a local level this means that every month in Bangalore, for example, 700 girls are massacred just because they are girls! Baby girls are a treasure not a liability. Give them a simple wedding, don't kill them! If you are a girl thank God and thank your parents today that you are alive!

It's also sad that rarely do people argue against gender abortions from the perspective of the sorrow of all the girls being slaughtered, but only from the danger of so many boys not finding a wife. Both issues are bad but the fact that the former is rarely even mentioned shows how many of the older generation have completely blotted out the value of life of the unborn from their consciences.

(8) Spoil Beauty, Not Enough Gap

Amongst other arguments for abortion is the fact that a girl's facial beauty will decrease when she gives birth. Not wanting this to happen, young couple often so want to wait years before having children, that if they become pregnant they seek baby termination. However, what is more ugly than a murderous heart? Why start your marriage by killing the kids? Others want a longer gap between their first and second child, so if they are pregnant too soon, they take the baby poison. And so the list goes on. I encourage you to take notes from these pages so that you can persuasively argue for the lives of babies and expose the foolish reasoning of the pro-choice movement, who support abortion. Organize a debate in your college. Get the facts straight in your mind first. Remember to quote your sources. God bless you for reading to the end of this little book. Let's do something to end the baby genocide and restore the beauty of true romance to what it was originally created by God to be.

Conclusion

Watching porno photos and blue movies leads to sex before marriage which leads to AIDS, abortions and divorce. If you see nude photos, then you are also producing the horrors of what you see in some of these bloody, dead baby photos in this book! God can forgive and deliver from any bad habit if we cry out to him fervently. People are awakening to the terrible evils that have been released recently in India and rising up to confront them. Will you help? The baby genocide will end and pornography and bad movies will be stopped as long as good people don't stay silent.

By Abishek Clifford CEO Rescue

Rescue, 108, 7th Main, 1st Stage, Brindavan Extension, Mysore. 570020 India
Office Mob 9886412613 www.rescue108.com abishekcliff@gmail.com

References

- [1] Rescue in 2012 surveyed a random sample of 4 students in each of 80 PUC colleges in 2 districts of Karnataka.
- [2] Illegal abortion 2.6 million 1969 <http://www.encyclopedia.com/doc/1G1-17196846.html> , 6.7 Million Chhabra, R. and S.C. Nuna. 1994. Abortion in India: An overview. New Delhi, India, Veerendra Printers updated 2004, 11 million Consortium national consensus on medical abortions 2008. Take these 3 estimates and plot graph, then add up every year...
- [3] 20,000: Consortium national consensus on medical abortions 2008
- [4] Report By Sangh Parivar RSS <http://www.sanghparivar.org/forum/when-muslims-will-become-absolute-majority-in-india->
- [5] <http://www.johnstonsarchive.net/policy/abortion/abreasons.html#9>
- [6] UNICEF state of the world's children Friday 25.2.2011
- [7] Consortium national consensus on medical abortions 2008.
- [8] Starting with the Gov Stats from [7] above and breaking it down by population and time assuming even distribution across India.
- [9] Assuming half of the abortions are medical half are surgical and then using the above statistics.
- [10] 25 million children born compared to 11 million abortions per year in India. I.e. 11 out of 36 or approx 1/3.
- [11] Quoted from : Meet the Abortion Providers
- [12] M.D. Commentary, 26 October 1976
- [13] Genesis chapter 19 The Bible.
- [14] www.rescue108.com
- [15] Johnstons Archive - Abortion Reasons <http://www.johnstonsarchive.net/policy/abortion/abreasons.html>
- [16] Hayward, Martino (directors), 20th Century Fox, 2008
- [17] (Mandell, Bennett, and Dolan (2010). Chapter 118.)
- [18] Vogel, M; Schwarze-Zander, C; Wasmuth, JC; Spengler, U; Sauerbruch, T; Rockstroh, JK (2010 Jul). "The treatment of patients with HIV". Deutsches Ärzteblatt international 107 (28–29): 507–15; quiz 516. doi:10.3238/arztebl.2010.0507. PMC 2915483. PMID 20703338. <http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC2915483/>.
- [19] Holmes CB, Losina E, Walensky RP, Yazdanpanah Y, Freedberg KA (2003). "Review of human immunodeficiency virus type 1-related opportunistic infections in sub-Saharan Africa". Clin. Infect. Dis. 36 (5): 656–662. doi:10.1086/367655. PMID 12594648.
- [20] Chu, C; Selwyn, PA (2011-02-15). "Complications of HIV infection: a systems-based approach". American family physician 83 (4): 395–406. PMID 21322514.
- [21] A study of Kenyan men published in the 2005 15th February edition of The Journal of Infectious Diseases <http://www.aidsmap.com/Female-to-male-HIV-transmission-rate-halved-by-male-circumcision/page/1419716/> 1/78 chance per act: $\text{Sum}[(n-1 \text{ to } 130) (x-1)^n/x^n] n=78 \text{ 52 weeks} * 2.5 = 130$ AND Boily MC, Baggaley RF, Wang L, Masse B, White RG, Hayes RJ, Alary M (February 2009). "Heterosexual risk of HIV-1 infection per sexual act: systematic review and meta-analysis of observational studies". The Lancet Infectious Diseases 9 (2): 118–129. doi:10.1016/S1473-3099(09)70021-0. PMID 19179227. 0.34% per act = 1/300 Use n=300 in above formulae.
- [22] (not including drug addicts) CDC USA Centre of Disease Control and Prevention USA Gov <http://www.cdc.gov/hiv/topics/surveillance/basic.htm#exposure>
- [23] Wilke, Abortion: Questions and Answers, (Cincinnati, Hayes Publishing Co., 1985). <http://afterabortion.org/1990/abortion-complications/>